NOTICE OF OPPOSITION

TAKE NOTICE that the Registrar is in receipt of a notice of opposition filed on the 28th day of March 2025, by CORTEVA Agriscience LLC (The Opponent), of 9330 Zionsville Road, Indianapolis, Indiana, 46268 United States of America, against trademark Application No. 19470.24, filed on the 6th day of June, 2024, by AGCO Corporation (The Applicant), of 4205 River Green Parkway, Duluth 30096-2568, USA, for the registration of the following trademark, as proprietor thereof:

The grounds of opposition are as follows:

1. The Opponent, CORTEVA Agriscience LLC (also referred to as "CORTEVA") with head office located in the United States of America, is a global leader in agriculture, providing farmers with seeds, crop protection and digital solutions to maximize productivity and sustainability, CORTEVA has registered and used in its trade in approximately seventy-one countries inclusive of

Belize, the design mark “” otherwise known as the CORTEVA FURROW WEAVE LOGO, Those countries are, Algeria, Africa, Argentina, Australia, Azerbaijan, Bangladesh, Belarus, Belize, Bolivia, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Brazil, Canada, Chile, China, Columbia, Costa Rica, Croatia, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Egypt, El Salvador, European Union, Georgia, Guatemala, Honduras, Hong Kong, India, Indonesia, Israel, Japan, Jordan, Kazakhstan, Kuwait, Lebanon, Malaysia, Mexico, Morocco, Myanmar, Namibia, New Zealand, Nicaragua, Nigeria, North Macedonia, Norway, Oman, Pakistan, Panama, Paraguay, Peru, Philippines, Republic of Korea, Republic of Moldova, Russian Federation, Saudi Arabia, Serbia, South Africa, Switzerland, South Africa, Taiwan, Tajikistan, Thailand, Turkey, Turkmenistan. Ukraine, United Kingdom. United States of America, Uruguay, Uzbekistan, Vietnam, and Yemen.

2. The Opponent has registered this design mark in Belize and other countries around the world as early as 2018, in classes 1, 5, and 31.

[Class 1]

Chemicals used in industry, science and photography, as well as in agriculture, horticulture and forestry; unprocessed artificial resins, unprocessed plastics; manures; fireextinguishing compositions; tempering and soldering preparations; chemical substances for preserving foodstuffs; tanning substances; adhesives used in industry.

[Class 5]

Pharmaceutical and veterinary preparations; sanitary preparations for medical purposes; dietetic substances adapted for medical use, food for babies; plasters, materials for dressings; material for stopping teeth, dental wax; disinfectants; preparation for destroying vermin; fungicides, herbicides.

[Class 31]

Agricultural, horticultural and forestry products and grains not included in other classes; live animals, fresh fruits and vegetables, seeds, natural plants and flowers, foodstuffs for animals; malt.

3. The Applicant, AGCO Corporation, seeks by way of its application for registration, protection in class 42 under the Trade Marks Act of Belize, CAP 257 of the Laws of Belize. Revised Edition 2020 ("TMA"), i.e.

[Class 42]

Scientific and technological services and research and design relating thereto; industrial analysis and research services; design and development of computer hardware and software; legal services.

4. The Applicant’s application for registration of the trade mark “” however;
- a. infringes on the right of the Opponent as the design mark is confusingly similar to the Opponent’s trade mark in violation of section 25 (2)(b) of the TMA;
  - b. infringes on the right of the Opponent as the Applicant's design mark is similar to the Opponent’s trade mark which known in Belize, and is being used in relation to similar goods and services with the resultant effect of either taking unfair advantage of the repute of the Opponent’s mark or detrimentally affecting the distinctive character or repute of the Opponent’s mark in violation of section 25(3) of the TMA;
  - c. was made in bad faith contrary to section 35(6) of the TMA; and
  - d. is violative of the protection under the Paris Convention and Sections 37(2)(b) read along with 38(1)(b) and 61 of the TMA, as the Opponent is the proprietor of an earlier trade mark at the date of application for registration of the mark in question and is a well-known trade mark.

Objection A- confusingly similar

5. Section 25 (2)(b) of the TMA provides that:

25 (2) A person infringes a registered trade mark if he uses in the course of a trade a sign where because,

 (b) the sign is similar to the trade mark and is used in relation to goods or services identical with or similar to those for which the trade mark is registered,

there exists a likelihood of confusion on the part of the public which includes the likelihood of association with the trade mark.

6. It is settled that any mark which is applied to goods or services which bears similarity to a registered mark will be deemed to infringe upon that registered mark, where upon comparison of the two marks, there exists a likelihood of confusion on the part of the public, such confusion including a likelihood of association. The basis of the position is to protect both the public and the trademark owner; the public from being misled as to the origin and source of goods and the trade mark owner from erroneous association.

Graphic

7. The Opponent says that when the Applicant's design mark is compared to the Opponent’s, it becomes apparent that there is a striking similarity between the two graphics. This is the position even at a mere glance.

Opponent’s Mark

Applicant’s Mark

8. As can be appreciated, the Applicant’s mark imitates the form and concept of the Opponent’s mark as it concerns the shape of the design i.e. a circle, and the distinct placement of the lines which create a cross-pattern of intersecting paths thereon. This the Opponent says is the identity of its design and brand. The Applicant's design mark lacks any distinctive force or novelty. The singular area of distinction concerns the color code adopted by the Applicant. This however is insufficient to cure the obvious confusion that may be created if the two marks were to co-exist within the Belizean market.
9. There is no doubt that even with the color variance, there is a real risk of confusion that will be created if the two design marks were left to co-exist. The overall impression of the Applicant’s design is that it is similar to the Opponent’s. Moreover, there is a real possibility and/or likelihood that if the Applicant's mark were to co-exist, that the public may associate the Applicant's goods and/or services with those of the Opponent, and form the opinion that the Applicant's goods and/or services are an extension of those provided by the Opponent, or are a new line of services launched by the Opponent. This is especially so if the average and/or reasonable consumer is not examining both trademarks together.

10. The likelihood of confusion amongst the public is heightened by the fact that the Opponent's design mark is already recognized by way of registration and used in the course of its trade in more than seventy countries around the world.

Similar Goods and services

11. The Opponent is a leader in agriculture, providing seed technologies, crop protection, and digital agriculture. Through its business, the Opponent provides farmers with seeds, products necessary for crop protection and digital solutions to maximize productivity and sustainability. In the course of its trade the Opponent utilizes its registered design mark on all its products. As a natural consequence its design mark is known and associated in general with its name and trade in the seventy-two countries where registered.
12. The Applicant by way of its application has indicated that it intends to use the design mark for software in the field of agriculture for a number of purposes which include managing agriculture data, documentation regarding field operation and farm businesses. Whilst software alone is not identical to the goods and services the Opponent provides; the type of software the Applicant seeks to provide is of a related type and/or class to those goods Opponent provides, i.e farming and agricultural related products. Thus, it is arguable, that both the Opponent and the Applicant trade in related fields, i.e. agriculture. Reasonably then, both the Opponent and the Applicant would target the same consumer base. Accordingly, those consumers may logically associate the Applicant's design with or consider it to be a product of the Opponent.
13. Given the relatedness of a) providing goods and services in the agricultural sector and b) serving the same pool of consumers, it is highly probable that if the Opponent and Applicant's design marks were to co-exist, that those consumers may logically associate the Opponent and Applicant's goods and services and believe that they are an extension of the line of products that the Opponent already provides. This being completely opposite of the ethos of the protections afforded by trademarking and by extension the Paris Convention.

Objection B- taking unfair advantage

14. Section 25(3) TMA provides that:

(3) A person infringes a registered trade mark if he uses in the course of a trade a sign which,

(a) is identical with or similar to the trade mark; and

(b) is used in relation to goods and services which are similar for those which the trade mark is registered,

where the trade mark has a reputation in Belize and the use of the sign, being without due cause, takes unfair advantage of, or is detrimental to, the distinctive character or the repute of the trade mark.

15. As illustrated above, the Applicant's mark is both similar to the Opponent's mark and is being used in relation to goods and services which are similar to those registered by the Opponent. As such, co-existence would result in consumer confusion.
16. In addition to confusion however, co-existence would allow the Applicant to benefit from the good will and reputation acquired by the Opponent over its many years of service and business trading with the mark. Over the years of its operation, the Opponent has derived immeasurable goodwill and reputation amongst farmers and agriculturalists worldwide. The Opponent is known and recognized across nations by this design mark. As a result, it has cautiously guarded its proprietary rights, having ensured its registration in numerous countries as outlined above.
17. The Opponent is entitled to its exclusive use of its proprietary rights in the mark. Consequently, if the Appellant's mark were allowed to co-exist with the Opponent's design mark there exists a real likelihood of the Appellant unfairly capitalizing on that goodwill, eroding away at the exclusive proprietary interest which the registered mark supports.

Objection C- made in bad faith

18. Section 35(6) of the TMA provides that:

(6) A trade mark shall not be registered if or to the extent that the application for registration is made in bad faith.

19. The Applicant's application for registration is made under classes 42. The Applicant, has, in other territories, lodged applications for the same design mark, the latest of such application, was made in Paraguay on the 7th of June 2024.

20. The Opponent herein filed a notice of opposition to that application on the 2nd day of October 2024 highlighting some of the countries where their design mark has been successfully registered. One of those disclosed countries being Belize. Thus, at the very least, as of October 2nd, 2024, the Applicant herein has been aware that the Opponent is the holder of the exclusive rights to the design mark as exhibited above. As such, maintaining an application for registration in these circumstances can no doubt be credited to bad faith.

Objection D- earlier trade mark

21. The Opponent is the proprietor of an earlier trade mark, being a trade mark that at the date of the Applicant's application for registration, was entitled to protection under the Paris Convention as a well-known trade mark in accordance with sections 37(2)(a) read along with 38(1)(b) and 61 of the TMA which provide:

37 (2) A trade mark shall not be registered if because,

(b) it is similar to an earlier trade mark and is to be registered for goods or services identical with or similar to those for which the earlier trade mark is protected,

38. -(1) In this Act, an "earlier trade mark" means,

(b)a trade mark which, at the date of application for registration of the trade mark in question or (where appropriate) of the priority claimed in respect of the application, was entitled to protection under the Paris Convention as a well-known trade mark.

61.- (1) References in this Act to a trade mark which is entitled to protection under the Paris Convention as a well-known trade mark are to a mark which is well-known in Belize as being the mark of a person who,
(a) is a national of a Convention country; or
(b) is domiciled in, or has a real and effective industrial or commercial establishment in, a Convention country, whether or not that person carries on business, or has any goodwill, in Belize, and references to the proprietor of such a mark shall be construed accordingly.

(2) The proprietor of a trade mark which is entitled to protection under the Paris Convention as a well-known trade mark is entitled to restrain by injunction the use in Belize of a trade mark which, or the essential part of which, is identical or similar to his mark, in relation to identical or similar goods or services, where the use is likely to cause confusion, but this right is subject to section 48 of this Act (effect of acquiescence by proprietor of earlier trade mark).

(3) Nothing in subsection (2) of this section affects the continuation of any bona fide use of a trade mark begun before the commencement of this section.

22. The Opponent's design mark was registered in Belize on the day of 5th March 2018 and assigned registration numbers 14363.18 to E.I. Du Pont de Nemours and Company. This registration was then assigned to the Opponent as of the 1st day of October 2021 by way of a Certificate of Assignment issued by the Registrar of Intellectual Property. It was at the time of the Applicant's application entitled to the protections guaranteed under the Paris Convention.

23. Further, as illustrated above, there is no question that the Applicant's mark is similar to that of the Opponent. Consequently, by virtue of the protections offered by the TMA and the Paris Convention, the Applicant is prohibited from registering its mark, with this design.

24. In consideration of the above, the Opponent respectfully begs that the application for registration of the trade mark “” be denied.

The Applicant is required to submit a response to this notice, to the Registrar, no later than 30 days from the date of publication of this notice.

TAKE NOTICE that the Registrar is in receipt of a notice of opposition filed on the 28th day of March 2025, by CORTEVA Agriscience LLC (The Opponent), of 9330 Zionsville Road, Indianapolis, Indiana, 46268 United States of America, against trademark Application No. 19471.24, filed on the 6th day of June, 2024, by AGCO Corporation (The Applicant), of 4205 River Green Parkway, Duluth 30096-2568, USA, for the registration of the following trademark, as proprietor thereof:

4. The Applicant's application for registration of the trade mark "" however;
- i. infringes on the right of the Opponent as the design mark is confusingly similar to the Opponent's trade mark in violation of section 25 (2)(b) of the TMA;
  - j. infringes on the right of the Opponent as the Applicant's design mark is similar to the Opponent's trade mark which known in Belize, and is being used in relation to similar goods and services with the resultant effect of either taking unfair advantage of the repute of the Opponent's mark or detrimentally affecting the distinctive character or repute of the Opponent's mark in violation of section 25(3) of the TMA;
  - k. was made in bad faith contrary to section 35(6) of the TMA; and
  - l. is violative of the protection under the Paris Convention and Sections 37(2)(b) read along with 38(1)(b) and 61 of the TMA, as the Opponent is the proprietor of an earlier trade mark at the date of application for registration of the mark in question and is a well-known trade mark.

Objection A- confusingly similar

5. Section 25 (2)(b) of the TMA provides that:

27 (2) A person infringes a registered trade mark if he uses in the course of a trade a sign where because,

 (b) the sign is similar to the trade mark and is used in relation to goods or services identical with or similar to those for which the trade mark is registered,

there exists a likelihood of confusion on the part of the public which includes the likelihood of association with the trade mark.

6. It is settled that any mark which is applied to goods or services which bears similarity to a registered mark will be deemed to infringe upon that registered mark, where upon comparison of the two marks, there exists a likelihood of confusion on the part of the public, such confusion including a likelihood of association. The basis of the position is to protect both the public and the trademark owner; the public from being misled as to the origin and source of goods and the trade mark owner from erroneous association.

Graphic

7. The Opponent says that when the Applicant's design mark is compared to the Opponent's, it becomes apparent that there is a striking similarity between the two graphics. This is the position even at a mere glance.

Opponent's Mark

Applicant's Mark

8. As can be appreciated, the Applicant's mark imitates the form and concept of the Opponent's mark as it concerns the shape of the design i.e. a circle, and the distinct placement of the lines which create a cross-pattern of intersecting paths thereon. This the Opponent says is the identity of its design and brand. The Applicant's design mark lacks any distinctive force or novelty. The singular area of distinction concerns the size and/or thickness of the lines utilized by the Applicant. This however is insufficient to cure the obvious confusion that may be created if the two marks were to co-exist within the Belizean market.
9. There is no doubt that even with the difference in line sizing, there is a real risk of confusion that will be created if the two design marks were left to co-exist. The overall impression of the Applicant's design is that it is similar to the Opponent's. Moreover, there is a real possibility and/or likelihood that if the Applicant's mark were to co-exist, that the public may associate the Applicant's goods and/or services with those of the Opponent, and form the opinion that the Applicant's goods and/or services are an extension of those provided by the Opponent, or are a new line of services launched by the Opponent. This is especially so if the average and/or reasonable consumer is not examining both trademarks together.
10. The likelihood of confusion amongst the public is heightened by the fact that the Opponent's design mark is already recognized by way of registration and used in the course of its trade in more than seventy countries around the world.

Similar Goods and services

11. The Opponent is a leader in agriculture, providing seed technologies, crop protection, and digital agriculture. Through its business, the Opponent provides farmers with seeds, products necessary for crop protection and digital solutions to maximize productivity and sustainability. In the course of its trade the Opponent utilizes its registered design mark on all its products. As a natural consequence its design mark is known and associated in general with its name and trade in the seventy-two countries where registered.
12. The Applicant by way of its application has indicated that it intends to use the design mark for software in the field of agriculture for a number of purposes which include managing agriculture data, documentation regarding field operation and farm businesses. Whilst software alone is not identical to the goods and services the Opponent provides; the type of software the Applicant seeks to provide is of a related type and/or class to those goods Opponent provides, i.e farming and agricultural related products. Thus, it is arguable, that both the Opponent and the Applicant trade in related fields, i.e. agriculture. Reasonably then, both the Opponent and the Applicant would target the same consumer base. Accordingly, those consumers may logically associate the Applicant's design with or consider it to be a product of the Opponent.
13. The Applicant by way of its application has indicated that it intends to use the design mark for, among other things, tractor-towed fertilizer applicators, seed drills, seed metering devices for use with agricultural seed planters, agricultural harvesters, outwear and education and training services in the field of agriculture. Notably, all agriculture related services and goods. Whilst machines, computer software, outwear and training services alone are not identical to the goods and services the Opponent provides, the type and nature of those identified services are closely linked to the Opponent's trade and/or class of goods the Opponent provides, i.e farming and agricultural related products. This is especially so where seed and harvesting related products are concerned. It is inarguable that both the Opponent and the Applicant trade in related fields, i.e. agriculture. Reasonably then, both the Opponent and the Applicant would target the same consumer base. Accordingly, those consumers may logically associate the Applicant's design with or consider it to be a product of the Opponent.

Objection B- taking unfair advantage

14. Section 25(3) TMA provides that:

(3) A person infringes a registered trade mark if he uses in the course of a trade a sign which,

(a) is identical with or similar to the trade mark; and

(b) is used in relation to goods and services which are similar for those which the trade mark is registered,

where the trade mark has a reputation in Belize and the use of the sign, being without due cause, takes unfair advantage of, or is detrimental to, the distinctive character or the repute of the trade mark.

15. As illustrated above, the Applicant's mark is both similar to the Opponent's mark and is being used in relation to goods and services which are similar to those registered by the Opponent. As such, co-existence would result in consumer confusion.

16. In addition to confusion however, co-existence would allow the Applicant to benefit from the good will and reputation acquired by the Opponent over its many years of service and business trading with the mark. Over the years of its operation, the Opponent has derived immeasurable goodwill and reputation amongst farmers and agriculturalists worldwide. The Opponent is known and recognized across nations by this design mark. As a result, it has cautiously guarded its proprietary rights, having ensured its registration in numerous countries as outlined above.

17. The Opponent is entitled to its exclusive use of its proprietary rights in the mark. Consequently, if the Appellant's mark were allowed to co-exist with the Opponent's design mark there exists a real likelihood of the Appellant unfairly capitalizing on that goodwill, eroding away at the exclusive proprietary interest which the registered mark supports.

Objection C- made in bad faith

18. Section 35(6) of the TMA provides that:

(6) A trade mark shall not be registered if or to the extent that the application for registration is made in bad faith.

19. The Applicant's application for registration is made under classes 7, 9, 25, 35 and 38. The Applicant has, in other territories, lodged applications for the same design mark, the latest of such application, was made in Paraguay on the 7th of June 2024.

20. The Opponent herein filed a notice of opposition to that application on the 2nd day of October 2024 highlighting some of the countries where their design mark has been successfully registered. One of those disclosed countries being Belize. Thus, at the very least, as of October 2nd, 2024, the Applicant herein has been aware that the Opponent is the holder of the exclusive rights to the design mark as exhibited above. As such, maintaining an application for registration in these circumstances can no doubt be credited to bad faith.

Objection D- earlier trade mark

21. The Opponent is the proprietor of an earlier trade mark, being a trade mark that at the date of the Applicant's application for registration, was entitled to protection under the Paris Convention as a well-known trade mark in accordance with sections 37(2)(a) read along with 38(1)(b) and 61 of the TMA which provide:

37 (2) A trade mark shall not be registered if because,

(b) it is similar to an earlier trade mark and is to be registered for goods or services identical with or similar to those for which the earlier trade mark is protected,

38. -(1) In this Act. an "earlier trade mark" means,

(b) a trade mark which, at the date of application for registration of the trade mark in question or (where appropriate) of the priority claimed in respect of the application, was entitled to protection under the Paris Convention as a well-known trade mark.

61.- (1) References in this Act to a trade mark which is entitled to protection under the Paris Convention as a well-known trade mark are to a mark which is well-known in Belize as being the mark of a person who,

(a) is a national of a Convention country; or

(b) is domiciled in, or has a real and effective industrial or commercial establishment in, a Convention country, whether or not that person carries on business, or has any goodwill, in Belize, and references to the proprietor of such a mark shall be construed accordingly.

(2) The proprietor of a trade mark which is entitled to protection under the Paris Convention as a well-known trade mark is entitled to restrain by injunction the use in Belize of a trade mark which, or the essential part of which, is identical or similar to his mark, in relation to identical or similar goods or services, where the use is likely to cause confusion, but this right is subject to section 48 of this Act (effect of acquiescence by proprietor of earlier trade mark).

(3) Nothing in subsection (2) of this section affects the continuation of any bona fide use of a trade mark begun before the commencement of this section.

22. The Opponent's design mark was registered in Belize on the day of 5th March 2018 and assigned registration numbers 14363.18 to E.I. Du Pont de Nemours and Company. This registration was then assigned to the Opponent as of the 1st day of October 2021 by way of a Certificate of Assignment issued by the Registrar of Intellectual Property. It was at the time of the Applicant's application entitled to the protections guaranteed under the Paris Convention.

23. Further, as illustrated above, there is no question that the Applicant's mark is similar to that of the Opponent. Consequently, by virtue of the protections offered by the TMA, the Applicant is prohibited from registering its mark, with this design.

24. In consideration of the above, the Opponent respectfully begs that the application for registration of the trade mark “” be denied.

The Applicant is required to submit a response to this notice, to the Registrar, no later than 30 days from the date of publication of this notice.

TAKE NOTICE that the Registrar is in receipt of a notice of opposition filed on the 28th day of March 2025, by CORTEVA Agriscience LLC (The Opponent), of 9330 Zionsville Road, Indianapolis, Indiana, 46268 United States of America, against trademark Application No. 19473.24, filed on the 6th day of June, 2024, by AGCO Corporation (The Applicant), of 4205 River Green Parkway, Duluth 30096-2568, USA, for the registration of the following trademark, as proprietor thereof:

The grounds of opposition are as follows:

1. The Opponent, CORTEVA Agriscience LLC (also referred to as "CORTEVA") with head office located in the United States of America, is a global leader in agriculture, providing farmers with seeds, crop protection and digital solutions to maximize productivity and sustainability, CORTEVA has registered and used in its trade in approximately seventy-one countries inclusive of

4. The Applicant’s application for registration of the trade mark “” however;
  - m. infringes on the right of the Opponent as the design mark is confusingly similar to the Opponent’s trade mark in violation of section 25 (2)(b) of the TMA;
  - n. infringes on the right of the Opponent as the Applicant's design mark is similar to the Opponent’s trade mark which known in Belize, and is being used in relation to similar goods and services with the resultant effect of either taking unfair advantage of the repute of the Opponent’s mark or detrimentally affecting the distinctive character or repute of the Opponent’s mark in violation of section 25(3) of the TMA;

Objection A- confusingly similar

5. Section 25 (2)(b) of the TMA provides that:

28 (2) A person infringes a registered trade mark if he uses in the course of a trade a sign where because,

7. The Opponent says that when the Applicant's design mark is compared to the Opponent's, it becomes apparent that there is a striking similarity between the two graphics. This is the position even at a mere glance.

Opponent's Mark

Applicant's Mark

8. As can be appreciated, the Applicant's mark imitates the form and concept of the Opponent's mark as it concerns the shape of the design i.e. a circle, and the distinct placement of the lines which create a cross-pattern of intersecting paths thereon. This the Opponent says is the identity of its design and brand. The Applicant's design mark lacks any distinctive force or novelty. 9. There is no doubt that even with the color variance, there is a real risk of confusion that will be created if the two design marks were left to co-exist. Accordingly, those consumers may logically associate the Applicant's design with or consider it to be a product of the Opponent.
13. Given the relatedness of a) providing goods and services in the agricultural sector and b) serving the same pool of consumers, it is highly probable that if the Opponent and Applicant's design marks were to co-exist, that those consumers may logically associate the Opponent and Applicant's goods and services and believe that they are an extension of the line of products that the Opponent already provides. This being completely opposite of the ethos of the protections afforded by trademarking and by extension the Paris Convention.

Objection B- taking unfair advantage

14. Section 25(3) TMA provides that:
(3) A person infringes a registered trade mark if he uses in the course of a trade a sign which,

Opponent's Mark

Applicant's Mark

8. As can be appreciated, the Applicant's mark imitates the form and concept of the Opponent's mark as it concerns the shape of the design i.e. a circle, and the distinct placement of the lines which create a cross-pattern of intersecting paths thereon. This the Opponent says is the identity of its design and brand. The Applicant's design mark lacks any distinctive force or novelty. 9. There is no doubt that even with the difference in color and the addition of the symbol, there still exists a real risk of confusion that will be created if the two design marks were left to co-exist. The overall impression of the Applicant's design is that it is similar to the Opponent's. Additionally, it is quite probable that consumers may miss the added symbol completely.
10. There is a real possibility and/or likelihood that if the Applicant's mark were to co-exist, that the public may associate the Applicant's goods and/or services with those of the Opponent and form the opinion that the Applicant's goods and/or services are an extension of those provided by the Opponent, or are a new line of services launched by the Opponent. This is especially so if the average and/or reasonable consumer is not examining both trademarks together.
11. The likelihood of confusion amongst the public is heightened by the fact that the Opponent's design mark is already recognized by way of registration and used in the course of its trade in more than seventy countries around the world.

Similar Goods and services

12. The Opponent is a leader in agriculture, providing seed technologies, crop protection, and digital agriculture. Through its business, the Opponent provides farmers with seeds, products necessary for crop protection and digital solutions to maximize productivity and sustainability. In the course of its trade the Opponent utilizes its registered design mark on all its products. As a natural consequence its design mark is known and associated in general with its name and trade in the seventy-two countries where registered.

13. The Applicant by way of its application has indicated that it intends to use the design mark for, among other things, tractor-towed fertilizer applicators, seed drills, seed metering devices for use with agricultural seed planters, agricultural harvesters, outwear and education and training services in the field of agriculture. Notably, all agriculture related services and goods. Whilst machines, computer software, outwear and training services alone are not identical to the goods and services the Opponent provides, the type and nature of those identified services are closely linked to the Opponent's trade and/or class of goods the Opponent provides, i.e farming and agricultural related products. This is especially so where seed and harvesting related products are concerned. It is inarguable that both the Opponent and the Applicant trade in related fields, i.e. agriculture. Reasonably then, both the Opponent and the Applicant would target the same consumer base. Accordingly, those consumers may logically associate the Applicant's design with or consider it to be a product of the Opponent.
14. Given the relatedness of a) providing goods and services in the agricultural sector and
b) serving the same pool of consumers, it is highly probable that if the Opponent and Applicant's design marks were to co-exist, that those consumers may logically associate the Opponent and Applicant's goods and services and believe that they are an extension of the line of products that the Opponent already provides. This being completely opposite of the ethos of the protections afforded by trademarking and by extension the Paris Convention.

Objection B- taking unfair advantage

15. Section 25(3) TMA provides that:

(3) A person infringes a registered trade mark if he uses in the course of a trade a sign which,

(a) is identical with or similar to the trade mark; and

(b) is used in relation to goods and services which are similar for those which the trade mark is registered,

where the trade mark has a reputation in Belize and the use of the sign, being without due cause, takes unfair advantage of, or is detrimental to, the distinctive character or the repute of the trade mark.

16. As illustrated above, the Applicant's mark is both similar to the Opponent's mark and is being used in relation to goods and services which are similar to those registered by the Opponent. As such, co-existence would result in consumer confusion.
17. In addition to confusion however, co-existence would allow the Applicant to benefit from the good will and reputation acquired by the Opponent over its many years of service and business trading with the mark. Over the years of its operation, the Opponent has derived immeasurable goodwill and reputation amongst farmers and agriculturalists worldwide. The Opponent is known and recognized across nations by this design mark. As a result, it has cautiously guarded its proprietary rights, having ensured its registration in numerous countries as outlined above.
18. The Opponent is entitled to its exclusive use of its proprietary rights in the mark. Consequently, if the Appellant's mark were allowed to co-exist with the Opponent's design mark there exists a real likelihood of the Appellant unfairly capitalizing on that goodwill, eroding away at the exclusive proprietary interest which the registered mark supports.

Objection C- made in bad faith

19. Section 35(6) of the TMA provides that:

(6) A trade mark shall not be registered if or to the extent that the application for registration is made in bad faith.

20. The Applicant's application for registration is made under classes 7, 9, 25, 35 and 38. The Applicant has, in other territories, lodged applications for the same design mark, the latest of such application, was made in Paraguay on the 7th of June 2024.
21. The Opponent herein filed a notice of opposition to that application on the 2nd day of October 2024 highlighting some of the countries where their design mark has been successfully registered. One of those disclosed countries being Belize. Thus, at the very least, as of October 2nd, 2024, the Applicant herein has been aware that the Opponent is the holder of the exclusive rights to the design mark as exhibited above. As such, maintaining an application for registration in these circumstances can no doubt be credited to bad faith.

Objection D- earlier trade mark

22. The Opponent is the proprietor of an earlier trade mark, being a trade mark that at the date of the Applicant's application for registration, was entitled to protection under the Paris Convention as a well-known trade mark in accordance with sections 37(2)(a) read along with 38(1)(b) and 61 of the TMA which provide:

37 (2) A trade mark shall not be registered if because,

(b) it is similar to an earlier trade mark and is to be registered for goods or services identical with or similar to those for which the earlier trade mark is protected,

38. -(1) In this Act. an “earlier trade mark” means,

(b) a trade mark which, at the date of application for registration of the trade mark in question or (where appropriate) of the priority claimed in respect of the application, was entitled to protection under the Paris Convention as a well-known trade mark.

61.- (1) References in this Act to a trade mark which is entitled to protection under the Paris Convention as a well-known trade mark are to a mark which is well-known in Belize as being the mark of a person who,

(a) is a national of a Convention country; or

(b) is domiciled in, or has a real and effective industrial or commercial establishment in, a Convention country, whether or not that person carries on business, or has any goodwill, in Belize, and references to the proprietor of such a mark shall be construed accordingly.

(2) The proprietor of a trade mark which is entitled to protection under the Paris Convention as a well-known trade mark is entitled to restrain by injunction the use in Belize of a trade mark which, or the essential part of which, is identical or similar to his mark, in relation to identical or similar goods or services, where the use is likely to cause confusion, but this right is subject to section 48 of this Act (effect of acquiescence by proprietor of earlier trade mark).

(3) Nothing in subsection (2) of this section affects the continuation of any bona fide use of a trade mark begun before the commencement of this section.

23. The Opponent’s design mark was registered in Belize on the day of 5th March 2018 and assigned registration numbers 14363.18 to E.I. Du Pont de Nemours and Company. This registration was then assigned to the Opponent as of the 1st day of October 2021 by way of a Certificate of Assignment issued by the Registrar of Intellectual Property. It was at the time of the Applicant’s application entitled to the protections guaranteed under the Paris Convention.

24. Further, as illustrated above, there is no question that the Applicant’s mark is similar to that of the Opponent. Consequently, by virtue of the protections offered by the TMA, the Applicant is prohibited from registering its mark, with this design.

25. In consideration of the above, the Opponent respectfully begs that the application for registration of the trade mark “” be denied.

The Applicant is required to submit a response to this notice, to the Registrar, no later than 30 days from the date of publication of this notice.

TAKE NOTICE that the Registrar is in receipt of a notice of opposition filed on the 28th day of March 2025, by CORTEVA Agriscience LLC (The Opponent), of 9330 Zionsville Road, Indianapolis, Indiana, 46268 United States of America, against trademark Application No. 19475.24, filed on the 6th day of June, 2024, by AGCO Corporation (The Applicant), of 4205 River Green Parkway, Duluth 30096-2568, USA, for the registration of the following trademark, as proprietor thereof:

The grounds of opposition are as follows:

25. The Opponent, CORTEVA Agriscience LLC (also referred to as "CORTEVA") with head office located in the United States of America, is a global leader in agriculture, providing farmers with seeds, crop protection and digital solutions to maximize productivity and sustainability, CORTEVA has registered and used in its trade in approximately seventy-one countries inclusive of

Belize, the design mark “” otherwise known as the CORTEVA FURROW WEAVE LOGO, Those countries are, Algeria, Africa, Argentina, Australia, Azerbaijan, Bangladesh, Belarus, Belize, Bolivia, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Brazil, Canada, Chile, China, Columbia, Costa Rica, Croatia, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Egypt, El Salvador, European Union, Georgia, Guatemala, Honduras, Hong Kong, India, Indonesia, Israel, Japan, Jordan, Kazakhstan, Kuwait, Lebanon, Malaysia, Mexico, Morocco, Myanmar, Namibia, New Zealand, Nicaragua, Nigeria, North Macedonia, Norway, Oman, Pakistan, Panama, Paraguay, Peru, Philippines, Republic of Korea, Republic of Moldova, Russian Federation, Saudi Arabia, Serbia, South Africa, Switzerland, South Africa, Taiwan, Tajikistan, Thailand, Turkey, Turkmenistan. Ukraine, United Kingdom. United States of America, Uruguay, Uzbekistan, Vietnam, and Yemen.

26. The Opponent has registered this design mark in Belize and other countries around the world as early as 2018, in classes 1, 5, and 31.

[Class 1]

Chemicals used in industry, science and photography, as well as in agriculture, horticulture and forestry; unprocessed artificial resins, unprocessed plastics; manures; fireextinguishing compositions; tempering and soldering preparations; chemical substances for preserving foodstuffs; tanning substances; adhesives used in industry.

[Class 5]

Pharmaceutical and veterinary preparations; sanitary preparations for medical purposes; dietetic substances adapted for medical use, food for babies; plasters, materials for dressings; material for stopping teeth, dental wax; disinfectants; preparation for destroying vermin; fungicides, herbicides.

[Class 31]

Agricultural, horticultural and forestry products and grains not included in other classes; live animals, fresh fruits and vegetables, seeds, natural plants and flowers, foodstuffs for animals; malt.

27. The Applicant, AGCO Corporation, seeks by way of its application for registration, protection in classes 7,9,25,41 under the Trade Marks Act of Belize, CAP 257 of the Laws of Belize. Revised Edition 2020 ("TMA"), i.e.

[Class 7]

Machines and machine tools, motors and engines (except for land vehicles); machine coupling and transmission components (except for land vehicles); agricultural implements other than hand-operated, incubators for eggs.

[Class 9]

Scientific, nautical, surveying, photographic, cinematographic, optical; weighing, measuring, signalling, checking (supervision), life-saving and teaching apparatus and instruments; apparatus and instruments for conducting, switching, transforming, accumulating, regulating or controlling electricity; apparatus for recording, transmission or reproduction of sound or images; magnetic data carriers, recording discs; automatic vending machines and mechanisms for coin-operated apparatus; cash registers, calculating machines, data processing equipment and computers; fire extinguishing apparatus

[Class 25]

Clothing, footwear, headgear

[Class 41]

Education; providing of training; entertainment, sporting and cultural activities.

28. The Applicant's application for registration of the trade mark “” however;

- u. infringes on the right of the Opponent as the design mark is confusingly similar to the Opponent's trade mark in violation of section 25 (2)(b) of the TMA;
- v. infringes on the right of the Opponent as the Applicant's design mark is similar to the Opponent's trade mark which known in Belize, and is being used in relation to similar goods and services with the resultant effect of either taking unfair advantage of the repute of the Opponent’s mark or detrimentally affecting the distinctive character or repute of the Opponent’s mark in violation of section 25(3) of the TMA;

- w. was made in bad faith contrary to section 35(6) of the TMA; and
- x. is violative of the protection under the Paris Convention and Sections 37(2)(b) read along with 38(1)(b) and 61 of the TMA, as the Opponent is the proprietor of an earlier trade mark at the date of application for registration of the mark in question and is a well-known trade mark.

Objection A- confusingly similar

29. Section 25 (2)(b) of the TMA provides that:

30 (2) A person infringes a registered trade mark if he uses in the course of a trade a sign where because,

(b) the sign is similar to the trade mark and is used in relation to goods or services identical with or similar to those for which the trade mark is registered,

there exists a likelihood of confusion on the part of the public which includes the likelihood of association with the trade mark.

30. It is settled that any mark which is applied to goods or services which bears similarity to a registered mark will be deemed to infringe upon that registered mark, where upon comparison of the two marks, there exists a likelihood of confusion on the part of the public, such confusion including a likelihood of association. The basis of the position is to protect both the public and the trademark owner; the public from being misled as to the origin and source of goods and the trade mark owner from erroneous association.

Graphic

31. The Opponent says that when the Applicant's design mark is compared to the Opponent’s, it becomes apparent that there is a striking similarity between the two graphics. This is the position even at a mere glance.

Opponent’s Mark

Applicant’s Mark

32. As can be appreciated, the Applicant’s mark imitates the form and concept of the Opponent’s mark as it concerns the shape of the design i.e. a circle, and the distinct placement of the lines which create a cross-pattern of intersecting paths thereon. This the Opponent says is the identity of its design and brand. The Applicant's design mark lacks any distinctive force or novelty. The singular area of distinction concerns the color code adopted by the Applicant. This however is insufficient to cure the obvious confusion that may be created if the two marks were to co-exist within the Belizean market.

33. There is no doubt that even with the addition of the symbol, there still exists a real risk of confusion that will be created if the two design marks were left to co-exist. The overall impression of the Applicant’s design is that it is similar to the Opponent’s. Additionally, it is quite probable that consumers may miss the added symbol completely.

34. There is a real possibility and/or likelihood that if the Applicant’s mark were to co-exist, that the public may associate the Applicant’s goods and/or services with those of the Opponent and form the opinion that the Applicant’s goods and/or services are an extension of those provided by the Opponent, or are a new line of services launched by the Opponent. This is especially so if the average and/or reasonable consumer is not examining both trademarks together.

35. The likelihood of confusion amongst the public is heightened by the fact that the Opponent’s design mark is already recognized by way of registration and used in the course of its trade in more than seventy countries around the world.

Similar Goods and services

36. The Opponent is a leader in agriculture, providing seed technologies, crop protection, and digital agriculture. Through its business, the Opponent provides farmers with seeds, products necessary for crop protection and digital solutions to maximize productivity and sustainability. In the course of its trade the Opponent utilizes its registered design mark on all its products. As a natural consequence its design mark is known and associated in general with its name and trade in the seventy-two countries where registered.
37. The Applicant by way of its application has indicated that it intends to use the design mark for, among other things, tractor-towed fertilizer applicators, seed drills, seed metering devices for use with agricultural seed planters, agricultural harvesters, outwear and education and training services in the field of agriculture. Notably, all agriculture related services and goods. Whilst machines, computer software, outwear and training services alone are not identical to the goods and services the Opponent provides, the type and nature of those identified services are closely linked to the Opponent's trade and/or class of goods the Opponent provides, i.e farming and agricultural related products. This is especially so where seed and harvesting related products are concerned. It is inarguable that both the Opponent and the Applicant trade in related fields, i.e. agriculture. Reasonably then, both the Opponent and the Applicant would target the same consumer base. Accordingly, those consumers may logically associate the Applicant's design with or consider it to be a product of the Opponent.
38. Given the relatedness of a) providing goods and services in the agricultural sector and b) serving the same pool of consumers, it is highly probable that if the Opponent and Applicant's design marks were to co-exist, that those consumers may logically associate the Opponent and Applicant's goods and services and believe that they are an extension of the line of products that the Opponent already provides. This being completely opposite of the ethos of the protections afforded by trademarking and by extension the Paris Convention.

Objection B- taking unfair advantage

39. Section 25(3) TMA provides that:

(3) A person infringes a registered trade mark if he uses in the course of a trade a sign which,

40. As illustrated above, the Applicant's mark is both similar to the Opponent's mark and is being used in relation to goods and services which are similar to those registered by the Opponent. As such, co-existence would result in consumer confusion.
41. In addition to confusion however, co-existence would allow the Applicant to benefit from the good will and reputation acquired by the Opponent over its many years of service and business trading with the mark. Over the years of its operation, the Opponent has derived immeasurable goodwill and reputation amongst farmers and agriculturalists worldwide. The Opponent is known and recognized across nations by this design mark. As a result, it has cautiously guarded its proprietary rights, having ensured its registration in numerous countries as outlined above.
42. The Opponent is entitled to its exclusive use of its proprietary rights in the mark. Consequently, if the Appellant's mark were allowed to co-exist with the Opponent's design mark there exists a real likelihood of the Appellant unfairly capitalizing on that goodwill, eroding away at the exclusive proprietary interest which the registered mark supports.

Objection C- made in bad faith

43. Section 35(6) of the TMA provides that:
